WINDSOR - Canada's Ambassador City

Windsor, Ontario, is Canada's largest city on the U.S.-Canada border and situated on the busiest waterway in the world, the Detroit River. During the 1962 season (262 days), vessel passages in both directions on this river totalled 14,590 — an average of 56 passages per day, or one vessel every 26 minutes carrying a total of over 97 million tons of cargo. On this waterway ply ships of great lengths, some as long as 729 feet, carrying iron ore, coal, limestone and grain through this great inland water route, the Great Lakes System.

It is a geographical coincidence that Windsor is south of the United States. Between Detroit (Metropolitan population 3,770,000) and Windsor there cross in both directions each year nearly 22 million persons (21,911,033 in 1962), close to 5 million (4,945,015 in 1962) of whom are American visitors to Canada.

Windsor ranks fifth in Canada's great industrial communities (Windsor population 115,000, metropolitan 194,000), manufacturing a wide variety of products in 453 industries. During the past year there has been a monthly average of 27,101 people employed in Windsor area industries. While Windsor is well known for automobile manufacturing (Chrysler automobiles, Ford engines and parts, General Motors engines, and Jeep Station Wagons), it produces many other products such as a wide range of pharmaceuticals and other nationally advertised products (Anacin, Burroughs Machines, "Windsor Salt", Tums, Toledo Scales, Hiram Walker's "Canadian Club", Champion Spark Plugs, Bicycle Playing Cards, Green Giant (canned vegetables), Carlings Black Label, Dragon Brand Frozen Foods, etc.), foods and many other items. According to official regional estimates for 1963 Windsor area industry will spend 24 million for investment in new industrial construction, machinery, equipment and repairs.

During 1962, twelve new industries located here, four new plants were built and there were 41 plant expansions included among 146,720 square feet of new industrial space constructed during the year. Over a ten year period, this represents an average industrial growth of 1.82 acres of new factory space each year and includes erection of 55 new plants and 399 expansions.

This area is well served by five main railways and one terminal line; a transcontinental air line (Trans-Canada Air Lines), and international air line (Canadian Pacific Air Lines Ltd.) - Windsor - Mexico City, chartered flights and highway transport facilities. An extensive expansion programme has been completed at Windsor Airport ($1,000,000 terminal building - $1,340,000 additional in runways). Windsor, too, is determined to realize every advantage of the St. Lawrence Deep Waterway for its port which now provides Great Lakes transportation. A Harbour Commission is now in operation and local facilities are being expanded and improved.

Windsor is maintaining its pace with the amazing growth of Canada and is making plans for its optimistic future. The City has expanded since the end of World War II under a zoning system to protect the stability of residential, commercial and industrial properties. The community is developing a programme of progressive capital expenditures during the near future and has, as of January 1, 1959, inaugurated the Council Manager plan of municipal government.

With all recent improvements (to December 31, 1962) costing $16 million, Windsor has one of the lowest ($159.36) per capita gross debenture debt in Canada, according to latest (1962) statistics.

Windsor recently embarked upon a broad programme of urban renewal for this area. The second project (commercial - institutional - residential) in its redevelopment plans is now under way and the first building in this area, now under construction is the Essex County Courts Building. This programme involves about 9 acres with a total development and construction cost of about $15,000,000.

Windsor has completed construction of a municipal courts building and has started plans for development of over 1,200 feet of river front property in the downtown area where there was recently erected a civic auditorium and convention hall. The Hiram Walker Historical Museum on the site was opened May 7, 1958.

Excellent facilities exist for education of 50,743 students (104 primary, 15 secondary schools, a technological institute and University of Windsor with Holy Redeemer and Canterbury Colleges as affiliates, and Assumption University of Windsor federated within the new University); Western Ontario Institute of Technology opened here in September, 1958, and the Windsor Teachers College which opened in September of 1962; recreation; and restoration and protection of health (5 hospitals; one of which comprises the Essex County Sanatorium); V.O.N. (Victorian Order of Nurses) and Red Cross units. All the basic voluntary, health, welfare and recreation agencies (18) are supported financially by The United Community Services of Greater Windsor, established originally in 1947.

Windsor has 118 churches and 4 synagogues embracing a wide group of religious affiliations.

In the field of medicine and sociology, Windsor has given a generous share of leadership. In 1949, Windsor established the first Child Guidance Clinic in Canada. In 1919 there was established in the Windsor Area, the first amalgamated health unit in Canada comprising six communities. A larger unit for the entire metropolitan area is now established. Windsor Medical Services, Inc., is the first doctor-sponsored, prepaid community medical plan in Canada. Prescription Services, Inc. (Windsor) is the first prepaid, voluntary medical prescription service in existence. The Windsor Cancer Clinic, opened in 1935, is one of the original cancer clinics sponsored by the Ontario Government. Windsor is one of the first four Ontario communities to establish (1954) homes for its senior citizens. At present there are 108 units for couples and 36 units for individuals.

Windsor and Essex County (total population 259,000) enjoy the news services of an outstanding Canadian newspaper—The Windsor Star (winner John A MacLaren Newspaper Award — 1963) circulation 78,595; ten weekly newspapers; Radio Stations CBE (1550); CJSP (710) Leamington; CKLW-TV (9), one of the most powerful (325,000 watts) television stations on the North American continent. In spite of an increasing volume of traffic, accidents in Windsor decreased further during 1962, with 2,100 accidents and 8 deaths. Last year, Windsor won two safety awards and a citation from the Governor General.

Automobile registrations for 1962 totalled 63,112. Besides this traffic, there were, during the past year, 3,197,901 cars entering Canada here from the United States. Progressive traffic changes and off-street parking facilities are being constantly studied and improved.

Windsor's industry is well balanced with a prosperous agricultural community in Essex County, well known as the "Sun Parlour of Canada", where there are produced 33 different fruit and vegetable crops. Because of a favourable climate (average winter high 35, low 27; summer high 78, low 58) and a long growing season from average 208 days in northern section to 216 days in the south, with average of 165 frost-free days, the county produces fruits (apples, pears, peaches, cherries) and vegetables which reach markets 1 to 5 weeks earlier than any other area in Canada; corn, soy beans, wheat, oats, tobacco, sweet potatoes. Farms here have a higher per capita production than anywhere else in Canada.
